Star Burrows—Sound

A native of New Orleans; Star brings a little bit of Cajun spirit to the theatre. She is happy to be in Hollywood where dreams do come true. With a strong desire for dancing and working as a music engineer, she's been blessed to appear in several music videos, Faith Evans, David Miller, Jordan Knight, and "Friday". Star developed a knack for hip-hop smooth jazz moves and danced and sang back up (in Japanese) in a video for Japanese star "AC". She's had the opportunity to dance under the direction of well-known choreographers such as Darren Henson, Fatima, and Wade Robinson and was a platform dancer for the hip-hop show, "Source Sound Lab". Star was also cast in a National Pepsi commercial that featured Beyonce a few years ago. Along with her sister, she was also a member of the Dance troop Diverse Visions at her home church. Another one of Star's passions is the art of painting. She just recently displayed some of her art talent for the backdrop design for the off Broadway show, "Strickly from the WestSide" and the feature film "If Not for HIS Grace". As a result, Star's artwork received a nod from Essence magazine during its critique review for the show. Music is also another love of Star's and to pursue her dreams of engineering in a famous studio, she just recently received her certificates from the Los Angeles Valley College as a certified Sound and Recording Engineer. Star is a member of First Baptist Church of North Hollywood and is an active member of the Drama ministry. She gives GOD all of the credit for her accomplishments, large and small and considers it a blessing to be a part of the "Dream Seekers" technical crew.

About the Playwright

Scherrie Payne started her career in show business as the lead singer of the Detroit based group "The Glass House." They signed to the Invictus label in 1969 and saw their biggest hit with the track "Crumbs Off The Table" (written by Scherrie), which charted on the Billboard Top 10. Between 1969 and 1972, The Glass House released 2 albums and 9 singles, including Scherrie's solo track, "V.I.P." They quietly disbanded in 1972 after the release of their album, "Thanks, I Needed That." In 1973, Scherrie Payne became the final lead singer of Motown's legendary recording group "The Supremes." Known affectionately by fans as "The little lady with the big voice" & "The Payne killer," Scherrie quickly established herself as a fan favorite among the Supremes' worldwide fan base. Lead vocal sparks flew from Scherrie Payne from 1973 to 1977 on three Supremes' Albums. "He's My Man," "I'm Gonna Let My Heart Do The Walking," "Let Yourself Go," and "You're My Driving Wheel" were the singles that Scherrie sang lead on in Motown's closing chapter of The Supremes. In June 1977, The Supremes (Scherrie Payne, Mary Wilson & Susaye Greene) performed their final farewell concert and the group was officially retired.

In 1979, Scherrie Payne and Susaye Greene recorded an album together on the Motown label titled "Partners." The critically acclaimed album was written and produced by the duo and featured the single "Leaving Me Was The Best Thing You've Ever Done," which was written by Scherrie.

In the early 1980's Scherrie Payne had solo club hits with her version of 10cc's "I'm Not In Love" followed by "One Night Only," a song from the play and movie "Dreamgirls." In 1985, she recorded her first solo album for Superstar International Records which contained several duets with Phillip Ingram. The following year Scherrie Payne recorded with British producer Ian Levine for his Motown reunion project, Motorcity Records. While with this label, Payne released two solo singles "Chasing Me Into Somebody Else's Arms" and "Pure Energy" (co-written by Payne), as well as covers of two Diana Ross tunes, "Ain't No Mountain High Enough" and "I'm Still Waiting." Other product recorded for Motorcity included "Who's Wrong, Who's Right" and "One More Time.

In 1986, Scherrie Payne, Lynda Laurence & Jean Terrell – all former members of Motown's Supremes – joined together. Their vision was to rekindle the glamour, style and music of The Supremes. The name for the trio was a natural evolution..."The Former Ladies of The Supremes." After Jean Terrell's departure in 1992, the trio continued, and today they are joined by the Grammy Nominated and American Music Award winner, Joyce Vincent - of Tony Orlando & Dawn" fame.

Scherrie & Lynda's trio have performed live in concert and appeared on TV shows throughout the USA, Europe, the Middle East and the Orient. These international appearances have allowed the world to experience again the music, charm, and elegance of this timeless act on a grand scale. They have released several studio albums such as the fan favorite, "Supremely Yours."

2015 marks the 29th Anniversary of Scherrie and Lynda's trio. They plan to release their new CD "Supremely Yours II" later on in the year. They are also in the planning stages for their 30th Anniversary celebration. Respected Motown historian Sharon Davis noted that "This trio is authentically keeping the legend alive."

In the summer of 2000, Diana Ross and The Supremes began their "Return to Love" tour. The tour rolled out with Diana Ross, Scherrie Payne and Lynda Laurence as The Supremes trio. The production included a 14-piece band, a 48-piece orchestra, and a 12-member dance troupe. The Ladies appeared on "The Oprah Winfrey Show," "The View," "The Today Show," and VH1's "Diva's" special.

When Scherrie is not recording and performing all over the world with The Former Ladies of The Supremes, she is an avid writer and has written over 18 screenplays. In September 2012 her screenplay "It Always Rains On Sunday" was produced by Donald Welch and had a 3-day sold out run in Los Angeles, CA.

Who's Who—The Cast

Iketra Porter (Ensemble Cast)

Iketra is Gospel Artist with one true purpose at heart; "saving souls by lifting the name of Jesus". This California native began singing at the tender age of 3 in her "big mamas" kitchen. From the start, "Iketra" knew it all begins and ends with God. Through many toils and snares, Iketra has emerged with testimony after testimony to declare the glory, majesty, dominion and power of the one true living God. The piercing crystal clear quality of her soprano voice coupled with the convicting passion from her soul is what she calls her Gift from God.

Patricia Colbert (Dana Gray Reporter / Ensemble Cast)

My name is Patricia Colbert. My achievements are as follow: AA degree in Broadcasting for Television, AS in Motion Picture & Television Arts, a BA in Electronic Media Management, and a MA in Education (Pedagogy Emphasis). I am currently pursuing my Doctoral in Education. From all of my experiences in gaining a higher education I found that the successful completion of projects depends upon the ability of your staff to grasp a problem, evaluate the best way to solve it, and then work until the solution is in hand. This is precisely the process I followed all the years in school as a Bill & Melinda Gates Scholar Skills: ☐ Customer and Colleague relations, raising public awareness through direct mail, e-mail blast and outdoor campaigns and other advertising/marketing materials from concept to completion. ☐ Film ; Editing events and testimonials ☐ Create radio and television commercials ☐ Computer Literate (Word, Excel, Internet) ☐ Videographer, T.V. Camera operator ☐ Fundraising Numerous commercials, videos and musical recordings, samples upon request. E-mail: selahzion@aol.com, and Cell: 818-401- 5672

Claudia Rose Gainer (Carla, Janet's best friend)

My name is Claudia and I am 12 years old. I started singing as a baby and then started memorizing words at the age of 4. I used to go to a singing coach and her name was Ms. Seward. She was my singing coach for the Seward school of music where I got my "Certificate of Performance" in 2011. Ms. Seward passed away a few months later. Then I started dancing at Stepping Out for Ballet and I performed at the Downey "Theater of Performing Arts." Soon after I quit Ballet because it didn't fit me as much as singing did. So my mom and dad found La Voix Studios and I started having singing lessons there and I still am. When I was also in 4th -5th grade at Paddison Elementary School, my friends and I decided to start singing together in a group singing 5th harmony songs. When I came into Lakeside Middle school, I joined chorus and I still am in chorus. In choir we perform for the LA County Fair and at Knotts Berry Farm and we go sing with other choirs in the district at Whittier High School.

Veronica Brown Akhtar (Barbara Richard)

Veronica is from the beautiful crescent city of New Orleans, LA. Having a father and grandfather as music mentors, she always had strong aspirations to enter the entertainment industry. She recently wrote and produced her first album to be released by fall of this year, "Pass the Beignets".

Veronica co-wrote and produced the theme song for Dennis Rowe Entertainment's, "Don't Mess with GOD, He'll Wash Your Feet, produced the arrangement of "Jesus Loves Me", a song that is also included in that show, and co-wrote and produced 3 songs for another Dennis Rowe Entertainment show entitled. She later wrote and produced the music for 10 songs in the delightful theatrical show piece, "Mercy & Grace", written by Ron Johnson. Veronica has a vision for her music as well as the TV & Film industry.

In alignment with her spiritual beliefs, she is a member of First Baptist Church North Hollywood where she is currently the musical director for the Circle of Faith Choir. She strongly believes you can reach any goal if you try hard enough, but should ALWAYS, ALWAYS keep GOD first.
